

Classification Criteria of Academic Articles and Books

1. Classification Criteria of Academic Articles

- 1.1. International Professional Journal: Journals listed on A&HCI, SSCI, SCI, SCIE, Scopus, ERI, PubMed index
- 1.2. International General Journal: Other international journals that do not belong to '1.1.'
- 1.3. Domestic Professional Journal: Journals listed on KCI
- 1.4. Domestic General Journal: Other domestic journals that do not belong to '1.3.'
- 1.5. Other International Journal: The rest of international journals that are not published regularly
- 1.6. Other Domestic Journal: The rest of domestic journals that are not published regularly ※ International/Domestic journal classification depends on publisher's geographic location.

- International: published overseas / Domestic: published in Korea

※ If a domestic journal is classified as '1.1.', however, it will be considered as an international journal.

2. Classification Criteria of Academic Books

- 2.1 Academic Books: contents pertaining to an academic field
 - 2.1.1. International academic books: academic books published overseas in a foreign language
 - 2.1.2. Domestic academic books: academic books published in Korea
 - 2.1.3. Professional Academic Books: books with professional and creative contents aimed at readership of researchers in related areas
 - 2.1.4. General Academic Books: books with professional and creative contents aimed at researchers in other areas or the general public
- 2.2. Translated Books: classics of Eastern& Western heritage, foreign academic books or literary works translated into Korean, or Korean books translated into a foreign language
- 2.3. Annotation Books: books that comments on the original idea or system based on theories
- 2.4. Source Books: academic material/index, computer database, audio/visual aids, etc.
- 2.5. Edited (compiled) Books: books edited with research papers or literary works from various authors
- 2.6. Textbooks: international/domestic textbooks, middle/high school textbooks